

Workshop "Science Slam" Moritz Kirchner

Content This workshop combines theory, practice and a lot of empiricism on slams from the former German vice champion in science slam 2018.

Short-CV Dr. Moritz Kirchner is a diploma psychologist and has a PhD in political science. He participated in world championships in debating, European championship and was German vice champion in debating in 2015 and 2018 the German vice champion in science slam.

Workshop "Managing Stress and Building Resilience" Corina Bejan

Content This workshop introduces you to the central findings of stress and resilience research.

Qualification and Training

North American Studies Program, University of Bonn

Certified Systemic Consultant & Trainer

Focus areas: Stress management, resilience and resource-oriented self-management

Short-CV

Present position:

Technische Universität Dresden | Graduate Academy

Experience: Extensive work experience in industry and science management

Workshop "Profile Yourself! Professional Networking for Women in Science" Dr. Stephanie Rohac

Content In this training, you get an introduction how to present yourself and your science and to what extent networks can contribute to your professional development.

Short-CV Dr. Stephanie Rohac is a Consultant, Trainer, Moderator and Coach with a focus on Communication, Leadership and Change in Organizations. She studied International Management (B.A.) and Communication Psychology and Management (M.A.). Her PhD in Intercultural Communication / Psychology deals with the development of individual change competencies. Empowering women in business and science is an important concern to her.

Workshop "Conflict Management" Dr. Anna Martius

Content Today, Anna will give a short introduction to her workshop on communication models and the analysis of conflict situations.

Short-CV Dr. Anna Martius has been working in science management since 2008, first in Lausanne and now as a manager of an international and interdisciplinary research training group at TU Dresden. In addition to her work as a coach, her focus is on training in time management, communication, leadership skills, moderation, mediation, and creative changes of perspective.

Workshop "Navigating Uncertainty: Resilience and Resonance for Self Leadership" - Tor Carberry

Content Today, he will present the content of his full day workshop, which will identify your most significant challenges and teach you different methods to develop resilience in practical, applicable skills for navigating your challenges.

Short-CV Tor Carberry is a remote leadership trainer and executive coach with over 25 years experience innovating in facilitating individual and team development. Tor has a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science and a Master's in Humanities & Leadership.

Workshop "Rhetoric for women" Karin Gante

Content

Even if you are more competent in your field than men around you, do you sometimes feel that you are not being taken seriously, that you are not being heard, that career doors are harder to open, that some paths remain completely blocked? Perhaps you are even speechless in some male-dominated situations?

Short-CV

Karin is a speech therapist, an actress and singer. She has a diploma in Theme-Centred Interaction, at the Ruth-Cohn-Institute and was trained as DIALOG Facilitator (after David Bohm). She is working as trainer, consultant and coach since 1997

Workshop "Professorial Appointments: Appointment Training for Future Professors" Dr. Patricia Grünberg

Content During the full day workshop the participants will take a closer look at the process and the written and unwritten rules of appointment procedures at German universities as well as on the content and style of your application documents.

Short-CV Dr. Patricia Grünberg received her Dr. degree in Communication Science from University Leipzig and conducted an additional master in Human Resources Development at the Technical University of Kaiserslautern. Since 2018, she has been involved in the set-up of the new research institute Barkhausen Institut.

Workshop "Leadership" Verena Frohs

Content

The learning objective of this workshop is to identify and to strengthen your own leadership competencies needed to cope with challenges in your professional life and to pursue a career path you desire.

Short-CV

Verena studied at the Technischen Universität of Chemnitz and the university of Denver. She is a certified Systemic Coach and Consultant at the Zentrum für Systemische Forschung und Beratung - zsfb, Heidelberg. After working for the BOSCH Group, since 2019 she has been working as coach and consultant.